

Dancing on the Wind

MARY JO PUTNEY

Taste the passion, glitter and menace of Regency England.

With his unearthly beauty and diabolical cleverness, Lucien Fairchild, ninth Earl of Strathmoor, has more than earned the nickname Lucifer. A tragic past has driven him to use his formidable talents to protect his country from secret enemies, and it is a job he does superlatively well... until he meets a mysterious woman whose skill at deception equals his own. By turns glamorous and subdued, reckless yet vulnerable, his enchanting adversary baffles his mind even as she captures his heart.

A perilous mission has forced Kit Travers into a deadly game of ever changing identities and needful lies, and a single misstep might cost her, her life. But Lucien easily sees through her disguises.

Unwilling to trust, yet unable to part, they join forces to search the dangerous underworld of London society – and discover that even two master deceivers cannot escape from passion's sensual web...
